500 FARMERS STORM TOWN; DEMAND FOOD

SAY COMMISSION REPORT IS TO FAVOR DRY LAW

Vickersham Members Predominantly Dry, Officials Predict; No "Pussyfooting."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. (AP)—The long awaited prohibition report of the Wickersham law enforcement commission was described today as predominantly dry with a majority of the members conceding little to anti-prohibition views.

From an official in a position to be ally cognizant of the committee's activities came this analysis:

Tentative report agreeable to more han a majority of the 11 commissioners has been completed. In it is no ecommendations for beer or wine. Neither does it urge any other major modification of the Volstead act designed to relax the enforcement structure built up around the 11-year-old ry laws. Repeal or modification of he 18th amendment did not enter the icture.

Surrounded by Graft.

In effect the view taken by a majority of the members was said to be hat prohibition as such has not yet had a sufficient trial. It was asserted his stand was based on facts recently ecovered showing that enforcement f the dry law during the last part of he last decade has been riddled by olitics and surrounded by graft.

The statement was made that in the inal report there will be "no pussyooting" concerning conditions as the ommittee has found them during the nost extensive investigation ever nade into prohibition extending over nore than 19 months of deliberation nd research.

Corruption and graft, lax enforcement and crime resulting directly or indirectly from the dry law it was said will be set forth alongside the reasons why it is believed these problems can e solved.

More Delay Seen.

Despite the virutal completion of he report authoritative word came hat it could not be placed before President Hoover before the end of ext week.

Even after the report has gone to he White House and prohibition veary commissioners are free to complete the rest of their crime report it was said that small possibility existed hat the president could send the report immediately to congress.

It was described as a bulky document comprising not only a majority and possibly a minority report but lso lengthy opinions prepared by ach member containing his or her oncurring as well as dissenting views with the solution of the dry law problem presented.

Long Opinions.

At least one of these opinions, it was asserted, will be longer than the report itself. Work still being done on some of these individual documents was given as one cause for the delay. Then, too, the commission will not meet again until the middle of next week for a final consideration of the report.

Possibility of changes in the tentative report was held not unlikely although a majority was said to be completely committed to a dry stand.

Within the completed document it was intimated from various sources there will be reviewed not only the much controverted subject of grape concentrates easily converted into wine but possibly the question of a nation wide referendum on prohibition.

A denial was given to reports that the committee would recommend a relaxation of the Volstead act in order to give full legality to the sale of fruit juices intended for the manufacture of wine in the home.

PROHI AGENTS GO TO SCHOOL

SPOKANE, Jan. 3. (AP)—Federal prohibition agents in Idaho, Montana and eastern Washington will start to school Monday in the federal building here to take a two weeks course in law enforcement methods.

They will be instructed by Clyde McLemore and James W. Everlingston of Washington, D. C. These men and 45 others completed the course of instruction at Washington and are covering alloted parts of the country to school the officers in accepted procedure.

YOUTHS KILLED BY POWDER BLAST

SHELTON, Neb., Jan. 3. (AP)—James McMullan, 12, and Wayne Hogg, 10, died today from injuries received when one of them dropped a lighted candle into a 20-pound can of blasting powder while exploring a storeroom at the McMullan home near here yesterday.

They found the can of blasting powder and opened it to see what it contained. In some unknown manner the boy who held the candle lost his grip on it and it fell into the powder.

The terrific blast blew James through a window and 20 feet beyond the house. Wayne was burned when the house caught fire.

WORLD MOURNS AT PASSING OF JOFFRE

Funeral Services Wednesday; National Services; Body in State.

PARIS, Jan. 3. (AP)—All the world, no less than France itself, tonight mourned the passing of Marshal Joseph Jacques Joffre, savior of Paris in 1914, who died at 8:23 a. m. after a long and grim struggle with arteritis.

His country plunged in grief was preparing to honor him by a great national funeral.

Marshal Joffre—the "Papa Joffre" of the French pollu and of all his countrymen—passed away peacefully the day before his 79th birthday. He had been critically ill for more than a fortnight and on December 19 suffered the amputation of his left leg which had become infected with gangrene.

Fought Grim Fight.

Given up as lost he fought with amazing vitality and although he had been unconscious for nearly a week before death came he was able to arouse himself at times to smile at a friend or murmur a few words to Mme. Joffre who throughout his illness remained almost constantly at his bedside.

Plans for the funeral have not been made known but if his wishes are followed he will lie not like his illustrious comrade, Ferdinand Foch, under the great dome of the Hotel des Invalides, but in a modest chapel in the grounds of his country home at Louveciennes, high on a plateau overlooking the winding valley of the Seine.

His visit to the tomb of Washington in 1917 friends revealed tonight inspired him with the desire for a simple burial on his own homestead "La Chataignerie" — "Chestnut Grove" — which he and Mme. Joffre built and laid out.

To Preserve Relics.

Dolon Jan Fabry, the marshal's aide during the war and his closest friend, said the old soldier had often expressed the wish that "Chestnut Grove" would become another Mount Vernon and that there his collection of military relics gathered in more than 40 years of military life might be preserved.

Tonight his body lay in the white plaster room in which he died at the hospital of St. Jean-de-Dieu, clad in a white dolman and the golden buttoned uniform of the French Colonial armies. Tomorrow it will be transported to the chapel of the Echol Militaire—old French army school—where on Monday and Tuesday it will lie in state so that pollu and general, the average man of France and her statesmen, may file past it and give it a final salute.

The funeral will be on Wednesday.

JURY STILL OUT IN DAMAGE CASE

SPOKANE, Jan. 3. (AP)—The Superior court jury trying the Dr. W. W. Robinson $60,000 slander conspiracy damage case retired at 10:30 o'clock tonight after delibearting since 3:55 p. m.

It will resume deliberations tomorrow morning.

NAME SHOEMAKER AS COMMISSIONER

BOISE, Jan. 3. (AP)—R. H. Shoemaker today was appointed acting commissioner of public works to serve until a successor of J. D. Wood is apointed and qualified. Shoemaker recently resigned as office engineer with the announcement he had accepted a position with a construction firm.

Wood realgned several weeks ago and his resignation was made effective today simultaniously with appointmeny of Shoemaker.

CROSS-EYED HOLDUP.

SEATTLE, Jan. 2. (AP)—Fred Blair, Bremerton, and Miss Phyllis Christenson, Seattle, were robbed here today by a cross-eyed bandit, while they were sitting in a parked automobile, Blair lost personal papers and $4 cash and Miss Christensen her wrist watch.

FLIGHT FAILURE CAUSED BY LOSS OF INSTRUMENT

Mrs. Beryl Hart Tells How Sextant Was Lost Overboard; Couldn't Find Island.

By MRS. BERYL HART,
Pilot of the seaplane, Tradewind.
(Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press.)

HAMPTON ROADS NAVAL BASE, Va., Jan. 3.—Hard luck came in too many forms today for me the first "pay load" flight to Europe would have reached Bermuda. We lost our sextant and had nothing to guide us but our compass, but I'm confident we would have reached our first goal except for hazy mist that kept us down to 400 feet. We passed over three steamers in our route after losing the telescope of the sextant overboard and while we think we were close to Bermuda we couldn't see it.

We passed over the steamer Bermuda and flew for about 1½ hours before we ran into the mist. In order to see anything at all we had to skim over the sea at an altitude of about 400 feet. About 1:30, the time we had expected to land, we tried vainly to locate the island and cruised around for about an hour. We knew we had ample gas and that we could get back to the United States.

Fail to Find Island.

Failing to find the island there was only one thing to do—turn back. We turned around at 2:30 and headed for Norfolk. We had no difficulty but we ran into one hard rainstorm about 6 o'clock. This lasted for about 45 minutes but our plane came through splendidly.

We had gas for about 1 1-5 hours when our plane came to rest on the water here.

The motor was running fine all during the flight and everything about the plane functioned perfectly. Our trouble was a lack of instruments and inability to see from an altitude.

Will Try Again.

Disappointed? Yes, it's a terrible disappointment but we are going to try again. The disappointment hasn't affected our confidence one bit. Just as soon as we can get a new sextant we will take off gain.

Of course our plans aren't complete. I'll probably be in Norfolk at least part of the day. Mr. MacLaren, the navigator, and I will discuss the plans in detail tomorrow morning.

We were never alarmed today but 16 hours of flying with a mist that was a bit trying. Makes one weary. I'm going to get a good rest and be ready to plan again.

MORE INDICTMENTS AGAINST COUPLE

Bowles and Miss Loucks Charged Separately in Murder Case.

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 3. (AP)—Two indictments charging each separately with first degree murder were returned by the grand jury today against Nelson C. Bowles, 34, and Irma Loucks, 28, his former secretary. They are charged with stabbing to death Mrs. Leona Bowles, 33, society matron.

Bowles and Miss Loucks were charged jointly with the murder in a previous indictment. In addition to the two bills returned today the grand jury brought out secret indictments, at least one of which is connected with the Bowles case, and a joint indictment against Bowles and the girl on a statutory charge.

Mrs. Bowles was stabbed to death last November 12 in Miss Louck's apartment. Both were present when she died. They said she committed suicide when she learned of their intimacies over a three-year period.

STOLEN COATS SAVED HIS LIFE

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 3. (AP)—Bert Vierra, 33, allegedly stole three overcoats but police said the fact he had them all on at once saved his life.

Vierra, arrested after allegedly stealing the coats from parked automobiles, was hit by a motorist but the padding saved him. After being treated for minor cuts and bruises he was taken to jail.

NAMPA MAN HELD IN MASSACHUSETTS

BROCTON, Mass., Jan. 3. (AP)—Angelo Savas of Nampa, Idaho, a cattle rancher, wanted his two children brought up with normal parental influence so he returned here recently and re-wed the wife from whom he was divorced 12 years ago. He planned to return to Idaho with his family complete.

His brother-in-law, however thought he should be detained until a suit he instituted for $10,000 is settled. Savas' brother-in-law wants that amount for supporting his sister and her two children for 12 years. So today Savas was ordered by the district court not to leave the state and had to file a $5000 bond.

BOARD SHOWS WHEAT FARMERS LENIENCY

Will Investigate Condition of About 100 Lessees of State Land.

BOISE, Jan. 3. (AP)—The state land board today extended leniency toward more than 100 lessees and purchasers of state land in the eastern Idaho wheat belt. The board directed the land department to investigate the condition of about 100 lessees of state lands to determine whether their 1931 payments should not be suspended until "better times."

It was pointed out wheat was selling at 42 cents a bushel and that much of it was tied up with crop mortgages and labor liens. The condition of some was described as "desperate." The matter of extending time of payments for purchase of state land will be submitted to the legislature without recommendation.

It was pointed out many had defaulted payments, making the contracts subject to forfeiture. By putting these payments on the "tail end" of contracts they would remain in effect and the time of payment would be deferred over a period of from one to five years as the legislature may decide.

PARISHIONERS WON'T LET PRIEST LEAVE

Refuse to Take Transfer of Veteran; Say They Love Him.

CHICAGO, Jan. 3. (AP)—A mob of more than 1000 persons surrounded the St. Mary Magdalen Roman Catholic church in South Chicago tonight determined to prevent a new pastor from taking over the keys to the parish.

In an ugly mood over the transfer of a priest 21 years their spiritual advisor the crowd routed a small police detail sent to maintain order. A newspaper cameraman was beaten and another's camera was smashed. The trouble started New Year's day when the veteran priest, Father Francis Kowaleski, announced at mass that he had been ordered by the office of the Chicago arch diocese to quit the church.

Early yesterday a crowd gathered when it was rumored the new priest would take charge. Father Kowaleski pleaded with the crowd vainly to quit the church and let him retire peacefully but they refused.

Crowd Loves Priest.

The mood of the crowd seemed to be epitomized in the words of one man, who said:

"Father Kowaleski loves us and we love him. He has been here 21 years and has built the parish from nothing until what it is today. We'll not allow him to go nor anyone to take him. This is the only way we can prevent it."

Almost simultaneously with the arrival of the small police detail this afternoon, a large limousine drove up to the church. In it were Father Kowaleski's successor and two other priests. All were hooted and imprisoned in the car which finally drove away.

CLOSE 4 HOTELS UNDER ABATEMENT

MISSOULA, Mont., Jan. 3. (AP)—Four hotels were closed under abatement proceedings in United States district court today.

The Western and Montana hotels were closed for one year each. The Northern and Europe hotels were closed for a year but may be reopened under new management.

Sixteen out of 40 abatement complaints were heard this morning. Three other places were closed.

REPUBLICANS GIVEN SCARE BY SENATOR BAKER

Custer Representative Reports He Will Vote Democratic; Changes Back to Republican.

BOISE, Jan. 4. (AP)—With only Sunday separating them from the opening of the legislature Idaho law makers in twos and dozens poured into Boise tonight, ironed out a small uprising—at least temporarily—and got to work on plans for the session.

After house members had virtually announced a decision on organization and members of the senate thought all was quiet, Senator Charles F. Baker, Custer, was reported to have announced he would vote with the democrats on organization.

This would give the democrats the deciding vote, that of Lieutenant Governor G. P. Mix, as the nominal strength would have been tied and the democrats would have named all committees and elected the president pro tem and assumed control.

But after allowing other republicans to worry for several hours he told newspapermen he would vote "regular."

"Won't Jump Into Pan.

"I have been in the legislature eight terms," he said, "and the ninth session is coming up. I don't see why I should jump into the frying pan now."

With this issue settled it seemed the major features of organization were cleared away and the lineup was believed to be about as follows:

For the house, C. A. Bottolfson, newspaper publisher from Arco, speaker; E. T. Taylor, Kootenai, floor leader; Paul Davis, Boise, chief clerk.

For the senate: G. P. Mix, lieutenant; George Grebe, president pro tem and accepted floor leader; Karl Ketchen, Boise, chief clerk.

Minor Appointment.

The great number of minor appointments for the two houses were being ironed out in hotel room caucuses tonight and the staff was kept busy working out preliminary bills such as appropriation measures, for expenses of the legislature and routine incident to bringing the house together for the first time for administering the oath of office to Governor-Elect C. Ben Ross and other electives.

The latter ceremony was scheduled for Monday noon shortly after the convening of the two houses and then the legislature will start its 60-day session.

FAILURES MANY IN 1930, REPORT SAYS

Higher Than in 1929; Indebtedness at End of December High.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3. (AP)—Commercial failures for the year 1930 totaled 26,355 exclusive of bank suspensions and their liabilities amounted to $668,283,842, compared with a total of 22,909 defaults in 1929, R. G. Dun and company reports.

The total for December was 2525 against 2037 for the corresponding month of 1929.

An accentuation of the unusually high commercial mortality during December was not unexpected, the review says, for even in settled times the closing month of a year invariably is marked by an upturn in the insolvency totals.

The total of 26,355 defaults in 1930 was unparalleled and in no preceding December has the failures numbered the 2525 reported last month. Moreover last month's indebtedness of $83,683,361 was also the largest on record and only once before in March, 1924, has the amount been exceeded.

NEW JERSEY BANK CLOSED SATURDAY

CAMDEN, N. J., Jan. 3. (AP)—The Haddon Heights Bank and Trust company near here failed to open today.

The bank has deposits totaling about $1,500,000. The closing was necessitated by "excessive withdrawals of deposits in the last few days," and business was suspended to protect remaining depositors.

Threaten to Take Eatables From England, Ark., Merchants Forcibly; Red Cross Aids in Distribution of Food.

ENGLAND, Ark., Jan. 3. (AP)—Farmers estimated to number 500 or more stormed the business section here late today demanding food, and threatened to take it from merchants forcibly. A hurried call to the Red Cross produced authorization of food distribution. More than 250 were fed.

The farmers came from what was a rich agricultural region until it was ravaged by the 1930 drouth. Most of them hitherto had been prosperous.

An address of one of the rioters was met with many interrupting shouts such as:

"Our children are crying for food and we are going to get it."

"We are not going to let our children starve."

"We want food and we want it now."

"Not Beggars."

"We are not beggars," another pushed forward to exclaim, "we are willing to work for 50 cents a day but we're not going to starve. Give us work and we'll not come back."

England officials said they considered the situation "very serious," adding the men would storm the town again as soon as their present food supplies are exhausted. They said virtually all merchants here were "broke" as a reflection of the drouth situation in the countryside.

Financial difficulties were further increased a short time ago by the closing of the Citizens Bank and Trust company. The Red Cross has been taking care of many local residents.

Attorney Talks.

George E. Morris, an attorney, who spoke to the farmers, was asked if he thought the situation would be repeated. He said:

"The merchants of England either must move their goods or mount machine guns on their stores.

"We depend here on cotton for our money crop and as is well known the price is low and besides the drouth cut production. Then came a bank failure and anyone who knows a section country knows the fix we are in.

Few Impostors.

"These men and women who came here today just simply go hungry, that's all. Why, one man told me they were impostors but when I saw those women standing before me crying and openly begging for food for their children, they can't tell me that.

"Perhaps a few were. Albert Wells (Red Cross chairman) told me he recognized some of them as impostors and I don't doubt some were."

Fear Repetition.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 3. (AP)—Charles L. Thompson, chairman of the Pulaski County Red Cross and representative of the Red Cross in the state drouth relief committee said tonight he feared the situation at England was the forerunner of similar trouble in other sections of Arkansas.

"As Pulaski touches on Loanoake county I have some first hand knowledge of conditions there," he said. "People generally do not realize how desperate the situation is."

HOLD POLICEMAN ON CHARGE OF MURDER

Washington Officer Believed to Have Fired Fatal Shot.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4. (AP)—A cartridge shell that Patrolman Robert F. Langdon voluntarily turned over to his superiors and his statement that he peeped into a sleeping room on his beat gave detectives the evidence on which they sought tonight to link him with the murder of 19-year-old Beulah Limerick.

Inspector Shelby disclosed the "extremely unusual circumstances" which brought the 38-year-old patrolman under investigation in the mysterious death of the former theatre usher last Wednesday. He said that a formal arrest must await future developments particularly by ballistics experts.

The patrolman who, Shelby said, had tried to "date up" the girl within the past two months has been held incommunicado since yesterday morning when he told his precinct officials he had found a cartridge shell in a coffee cup in a room adjoining that in which the girl's body was found with a hidden bullet wound in her head.

Had Coffee Together.

An hour before it was known the girl was murdered her brother and other members of her family had coffee together, leaving six cups on a table. That night an undertaker discovered the wound. The next night Langdon was detailed to the house with a special guard.

At this time Shelby said Langdon was not under suspicion and police searching the house had found only one shell—this on the floor beside the bed.

Turned Shell Over.

Yesterday Shelby said Langdon turned over the shell he said he had found in one of the coffee cups along with a bullet which he said he found imbedded in the floor. He was detained and detectives took from him a .25 calibre pistol. At his home they discovered another .25 calibre pistol in an old ice box.

"I want the bureau of standards to find out whether the death bullet was fired from either of Langdon's guns and whether the shell in the cup and the shell we had found previously were from one or the other of these guns." Langdon denied connection with the murder but said that while patroling his beat on which the house is located he had walked up to a door and peeped through at the sleeping girl early Wednesday. The patrolman also said he had talked to the girl about a complaint aglanst the house.

Langdon Arrested.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. (AP)—A Washington policeman was arrested today in connection with the death of 19-year-old Beulah Limerick, found in bed Wednesday morning with a hidden bullet hole in her head.

He is Robert F. Langdon, whose beat ran past the girl's home. Records showed he was on duty in the vicinity from midnight Tuesday until eight o'clock Wednesday morning.

Two .25 calibre guns owned by Langdon and of a type such as that believed to have killed Miss Limerick were being tested by John Fowler, ballistics expert of the police department, to see if they had been fired recently.

BEESEMYER WILL START HIS TERM

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 3. (AP)—Gilbert Henry Beesemyer, a financier and social light of Hollywood three weeks ago, found his social level suddenly reduced to that of a motley band of felons today, aboard a train en route to San Quentin penitentiary, where he must begin a 10 to 100 year sentence for wrecking the Guaranty Building and Loan association of Los Angeles.

The former secretary-manager of the building and loan institution, who confessed peculations of more than $8,000,000 from his firm and branded himself "a dirty crook" while confessing, engaged in small talk with manacled convicts, all social barriers swept aside by the arm of the law.

SEEK QUINN ON ANOTHER COUNT

PONCA CITY, Okla., Jan. 3. (AP)—Search for Earl Quinn, former Missouri convict, accused in the slaying of Jessie and Zesia Griffith, Blackwell school teachers, was spurred today by evidence which officers said connected him with another crime.

Sheriff Joe Copper said a young Muskogee married woman identified Quinn's picture as that of a man who crowded her car into a ditch and attacked her early Thanksgiving morning near the point on U. S. highway No. 77 where the sisters were shot and killed last Sunday.

Quinn, officers said, paraded the highway near Tonkawa drunk and armed.

Officers said the suspect's wife, when arrested, was unable to supply any new evidence.

FOUR HORSES DIE IN STABLE BLAZE

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 3. (AP)—Four thoroughbreds were burned to death early today at the fairgrounds race plant which opened for the new racing season on New Year's day.

The racers lost were Little Minister, Pusticate and Ballot On, the three owned by W. H. Fizer's stable, and a fourth horse, Honey Grove.

Two negroes and an exercise boy, aroused before the fire department arrived, managed to save three other horses quartered in the blazing barn. Among those rescued from the fire unharmed were Sailing Cloud, Chuggy and Philander. Escapes were narrow as the straw and bedding in the big barn melted before the fire.

Property damage was estimated at $25,000. The horsemen valued the horses burned at $5000 each.

Journalist Urges Remonetization

P. A. O'Farrell Says Asia Must be Brought to Prosperity; Need Agreement Ratio.

SPOKANE, Jan. 3. (AP)— P. A. O'Farrell of Montreal, on his arrival here today, said an internation conference or memonetization of silver already has been quietly held.

"The Associated Press dispatch quoting the Vancouver Province to the effect that an international plan is underway," the journalist and economist said, "omits one important particular. This is that an agreement ration between silver and gold will be proposed before the actual loan is made."

"I talked with H. H. Stevens, Canadian finance minister on his return from the imperial conference. He said the Russian five-year plan is succeeding and that Russian products are being delivered to Europe cheaper than America can supply them.

"He has convinced London bankers that the only relief for North America and hence for Europe is the restoration of prosperity in Asia and Latin America. Many of the foremost British statesmen and economists have become convinced within the last three months the gold standard cannot be continued and the world must return to silver to prevent more widespread depression than now exists."

FIVE KILLED IN EXPLOSION AT MIDVALE MINE

MIDVALE, Ohio, Jan. 3. (AP)— Bodies of five men killed in an explosion on the No. 4 mine of the Midvale Coal company this morning were recovered by rescue workers tonight about nine hours after the blast.

The bodies were brought to the surface by a rescue crew composed of federal and state mine rescue workers and local miners just before 8 o'clock.

The victims apparently were killed by the explosion which seemed to have centered where their bodies were found scattered about the floor of the tunnel about three and one-half miles from the entrance of the drift, mine rescuers said. Fifteen other men in the mine escaped without injury a few minutes afterwards.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3. (AP)—The rail stocks tugged the entire market higher today although the gains in all groups were considerably less than yesterday.

Submission of the four system merger plan to the interstate commerce commission so soon after the announcement of the agreement brought another display of strength in the carriers.

Industrials followed less enthusiastically despite advances in United States Steel and others through their highs of the December 17 rally while some utilities were buoyant. The motor issues were content to hold yesterday's gains. Oils were higher. Few pivotal stocks, with the exception of the rails, were up more than one or two points. Sales totaled 1,547,790 shares.

Steel mills in the Youngstown district will increase their rate of production two per cent next week to 39 per cent of capacity.

Give Data on Heats Of Metals, Oxides

Bulletin on Zinc Smelting Issued by Bureau of Mines; Thermo-Dynamic Viewpoint.

Data on the specified heats of metals, oxides, and sulphides at high and low temperatures, heats of formation, entropies, free energies, and vapor pressures are only to be found scattered here and there through the technical literature of metallurgy. The Pacific experiment station of the United States bureau of mines, department of commerce at Berkeley, Calif., is presenting data in a form useful to the practical metallurgist, is supply important gaps in the fund of information, and is redetermining those properties now incorrectly reported.

Notable accomplishments in this field have been the determination of low temperature specific heats which have been measured for some two-thirds of the metal and oxides of the periodic system, exclusive of the rare earths. A large proportion of the material available has resulted from the work of the bureau of mines. A complete set of data upon the fifth group of the periodic system has been obtained and prepared for publication; these materials are of great importance in lead smelting.

In the field of high-temperature specified heats a new method for obtaining data suitable for metallurgical purposes has been developed; this is expected to result in a marked increase in the speed with which results may be obtained and to improve their accuracy.

Bulletin on Zinc.

Work on vapor pressure of oxides has been started. Valuable results on the vapor pressures of antimony, and mixtures of the material with lead oxide, as well as a melting-point diagram of this system, have been obtained and prepared for publication.

A bulletin on zinc smelting from the thermodynamic viewpoint has been prepared; it furnishes a complete and authenticated picture of the chemical processes involvel and should prove indispensable in probable future attempts to improve the antiquated methods in the zinc-smelting industry.

Work on the fifth group metals and oxides has resulted in a rational understanding of the processes involved in lead softening, and application of data obtained to actual softening processes is being made.

CONVICTED COPS MORALS ALL RIGHT

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Jan. 3. (AP) —When a policeman collects license money from a speakeasy or bootlegger and turns it over to the city treasury, he is not guilty of moral turpitude, the Great Falls police commission ruled tonight. The commission in a report to the mayor tonight said the conviction of six officers on charges of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law did not involve any reflection on the moral character of the men and recommended they be reinstated.

Mayor A. J. Fousek has five days to accept, amend or annul the commission's findings. He made no comment regarding what course he intended to pursue.

2 KILLED IN SLIDE.

GLARIS, Switzerland, Jan. 3. (AP)— An avalanche of snow that swept down a mountainside near here yesterday carried three members of a German skiing party to their death.

RECOVER GOLD FROM COPPER ORE

Gold associated with carbon and not amalgamate with mercury, it can now be recovered by a method developed by the United States bureau of mines, which includes flotation for the concentration of the refractory minerals, a special low-temperature roasting of the concentrates and cyanidation of the calcine for almost complete recovery of the gold.

In large copper concentrating mills value in gold per ton of ore is usually so low that its recovery has been given little consideration. The totals per year indicate a large gold loss. It is shown that recoveries are improved by careful control of the alkalinity in the flotation circuit. In one instance a recovery of 50 per cent of the gold was raised to 85 per cent, with the same copper recovery.

WAYNE IS BETTER.

Considerable improvement has been noted in the condition of James A. Wayne, Wallace attorney, who was in a serious condition in a local hospital 10 days ago.

TRADE WILL COST

The restoration of silver and the general reorganization of oriental trade markets, by providing funds for China's needs if the war leaders of that country will turn their efforts from war to peace, is the plan under consideration by the United States, England and Canada.

The plan is a worthy one but will provide the first clash with soviet Russia. China is commanding the attention of the reds and any effort to restore peace in that country will meet resistance from Russia.

The question to be decided is shall we unite with England and drive the reds from China in order to provide a market for our products or shall we sit on the side lines and let Russia go unmolested in disrupting the trade of the world. The first thing necessary if the cooperative loan is made is to place a ban on Russian imports.

THE CAUSE OF DISASTER

The present business depression is generally looked upon as a catastrophe that struck entirely without warning, a hurricane that swept down on a smiling sea where all had been calm and peaceful up to the very moment of the disaster. Naturally, looking at it in that way, we have expected its end to be almost equally sudden and unexpected, and the fact that recovery is going to be a long-drawn-out process is proving more painful than we had supposed.

However, the years immediately preceding the stock market crash of 1929 are worth examining, and Senator Henrik Shipstead of Minnesota, in an article in the current Magazine of Wall Street, takes occasion to point out that the prosperity of the days just before the crash was not nearly as substantial or widespread as we ordinarily suppose.

"You will remember," writes the senator, "that in those years there was a good deal of talk about 'profitless prosperity.' I think that it was justified. The way I look at it, our prosperity has been more or less artificial and of the paper-profits variety for some years. Artificial prosperity feels about as good as real prosperity while it lasts, for many elements of the community, but its aftermath is not so pleasant."

Senator Shipstead then points out that government figures show that the value of United States manufactures increased less than three billions in the peirod from 1925 to 1929—an increase far below what would be expected, which can be accounted for by price variations alone. Furthermore, during all of those years there was a good deal of unemployment, especially in the winter of 1928.

Nor is that all. Between 1923 and 1929 employment in the manufacturing industries fell off 10 per cent, and the total yearly wages in those industries dropped 4 per cent in those six years. Yet 1929 was considered the peak year of prosperity!

From all of this it is clear that something was radically wrong before the stock market blew up. Our present troubles may be due not so much to too much speculation as to unsound industrial practices preceding the speculative disaster.

"God" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, January 4.

The golden text is from Isaiah 12:2, "Behold, God is my salvation; I will trust, and not be afraid."

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And I heard as it were the voice of a great multitude, and as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of mighty thunderings, saying, Alleluia: for the Lord God omnipotent reigneth" (Rev. 19:6).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Step by step will those who trust Him find that 'God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble'" (page 444).

BY HOWARD ROCKEY — A ROMANCE OF RADIO

Masked Longing

SYNOPSIS: Although Aileen Gray, musical comedy actress, loves Jimmy Crane, press agent, she refuses to marry him believing her first duty is to her younger sister, Vivienne. Vivienne is a high-spirited young beauty, and is posing for Dwight Channing, artist, painting some theater murals. Aileen wins a star role in Max Klein's new Broadway musical show, "Sara's Christmas Shrine." Vivienne jealous of her older sister, tries to steal the limelight at the gay party given by Channing to celebrate Aileen's success. She accepts a dare to bathe in the fountain. As Aileen tries to stop her, Vivienne slams the glass doors behind her and Aileen crashes through the glass.

Chapter 12

SHATTERED DREAMS

PETRIFIED, Vivienne stared at the shattered glass. In the instant that she had swung those doors the knowledge of what must happen stabbed her like a knife.

A scream choked in her throat. Its echo was a tinkle of glass—a low moan from Aileen—shrieks—pandemonium.

Vivienne saw nothing but the crown of Aileen's head—thrust partly through the panel. Burns and Woodward were holding her up by the arms, beseeching her not to struggle.

As they lifted Aileen, Vivienne glimpsed her sister's blood-streaked face. She was not unconscious, and Vivienne shuddered to think of the pain she must be enduring. After that she knew no more until she found herself stretched out in the garden-swing. Two women were working over her.

As they tried to soothe her Vivienne struggled to bring some order out of the chaos of her mind. It was in this very hammock, after she'd posed for Channing, that she had conceived the crazy desire to be the first in the pool of the fountain. Now the sound of its gentle splashing was nearly driving her mad. It was all her fault.

Springing out of the swing, she thrust aside the women and dashed into the studio. Men and girls turned to stare at her. Was it contempt or pity written on their faces? Like an outcast, she made her way to the door of Channing's bedroom. Just outside it Max Klein swore and fumed at the delay in calling an ambulance.

Jimmy Crane had tried in vain to stop Aileen when he saw the glass doors closing. Now he stood guard at the doorway as Channing helped the physician who had luckily been a guest. Without meeting her eyes Crane put a hand on Vivienne's wrist and signed to her not to enter. In his shirt-sleeves Doctor Carr was working as best he could until the assistance he required might have time to arrive. From his very manner Vivienne knew that Aileen's plight was serious.

Sobbing, she sank down in a chair, feeling like a criminal and terribly alone. Dawn was peeping through the windows. The musicians had departed. Stale smoke filled the disordered studio. Its festive air had gone drab. Channing's guests, stunned and silent, wondered whether to go or wait.

Vivienne got up and on tip-toe moved toward the bed. Her agonized eyes met the doctor's as he shook his head. A white-capped nurse and a young interne came in.

"Oh! She's not dead?" Vivienne cried as they gently covered Aileen's face and lifted her to a stretcher.

"No!" snapped the doctor gruffly. "Keep quiet, you little fool!" He stalked out after the stretcher.

Vivienne staggered to the door, where Jimmy waited for her.

The tragedy had occurred too late to make the morning papers, but the noon editions flaunted sensational headlines through the theatrical district. Side by side with the stories of Aileen's triumphant performance appeared the news of the accident that threatened to ring down the curtain at the start on a brilliant career.

Aileen herself had begged that no hint of what had caused it all should be given to the public. Already all sorts of rumors were being circulated, and the natural supposition was that some sort of scandalous episode was being concealed.

"Max!" Jimmy Crane said to Klein later that morning. "You've got to decide something quickly. Every seat for tonight is sold—"

"Damn the house!" Klein exploded. Perhaps for the first time in his life the box-office was a matter of indifference to the producer. "It's Aileen's show. She made it. If I thought she'd never go on again I'd take it off!"

"Aileen—wouldn't like that."

Klein sat down heavily. "All right," he said in a far off tone. "Telephone to Sadie Kohn. She knows what to do. You handle the newspaper bunch."

"I'll tend to it," Jimmy assured him. "You'd better slip off and get some sleep—"

"I should sleep!" Klein glared at him. "Get out of here!"

Jimmy swallowed hard and went. He was eager to finish with his task and get back again. He had tried to appear optimistic, but actually he was down. From what he had learned by various means there seemed no ray of hope. And even if hope remained the hushing up of what had really happened was the worst thing possible as far as Aileen was concerned.

There was another side to consider, too. All morning a ghost had been haunting him, and he rather fancied that Max Klein shared his apprehension. This spectre had crouched behind Vivienne, and its nasty shape grew more distinct every time that Jimmy observed Dwight Channing's preoccupation.

It was true that Channing had acted like a brick, but it was fairly obvious that he didn't relish the interpretation which might be put on the outcome of his party. He was wise in saying nothing, but in shielding Vivienne, all of them were putting Aileen in a false position that could not be explained.

Jimmy was fond of Vivienne, and it had given his heart a twist when he realized how this had hit her. But that didn't alter the fact that the kid had behaved like an idiot. If it would have done the slightest good he'd have liked to strangle her!

At first Aileen, returning to consciousness, tried to believe it had all been a horrible dream. How eagerly she had looked forward to reading what the critics should have to say about her! But she had no need to raise a hand to know that her face was hidden beneath a mass of bandages. It burned, pulled—tortured her—

Luckily Aileen's eyes had been spared, although the glass had injured her lids and cut her forehead badly. Her nose, the upper part of her cheeks and top of her right ear had borne the brunt of the damage. It was difficult to forecast how bad the scars might be.

From a booth phone Jimmy called Klein's office and explained to Sadie Kohn. That night another Sara would make her debut as the lead of the hit of the previous eve-

[illegible]s not until late the next [illegible]n that Jimmy was allowed [illegible] Aileen.

First he read her what Bruce Burns, Woodward and Quinn had written—just their praise of her performance without any reference to its aftermath.

As for the rest, he sketched it verbally, as gently as he could. He told her that Klein had put Fay Grant in—until Aileen should be able to resume the part herself. As he said that she reached for and pressed his hand—and he saw that she understood.

"Thanks, Jim," she murmured faintly. "But you and I can't ever pretend what we don't mean."

The nurse turned away, and Jimmy struggled against an emotion he had never felt before. He wished that he could lie—and make Aileen believe him—wished even more that there was no need to lie to her at all.

"I'm not—trying—to pretend!" He bent closer and answered lamely.

"Don't," she said very quietly. "There's no use. I know."

There wasn't any answer to that—in view of everything. He kissed her hand. "Let's don't think about it now. There's plenty of time to plan."

"That's true," she agreed, "except for one thing. Jimmy, I couldn't say this to anyone but you. You mustn't think—mustn't blame herself if I—have to go on the shelf."

"I'm sorry," the nurse interrupted. "I'm afraid Mr. Crane's already overstayed his time."

As Jimmy went out the perfume of the bouquets in the hallway reminded Aileen of a funeral—the funeral of her hopes.

Is the future hopeless for Aileen? In tomorrow's chapter Jimmy Crane brings a ray of hope.

REPORT FOUR CARS STRANDED AT TAFT

No Word Received From Wallace Wrecking Crew at Early Hour Today; Believed not Serious.

Four automobiles were stranded last night on the Wallace-Missoula highway, a short distance east of Lookout on the Idaho-Montana divide, according to reports received here.

A Wallace wrecking machine was sent out shortly after 7 o'clock Saturday night but at an early hour this morning no word had been received from the mechanics, thus giving no indication of the seriousness of the accidents in which the four cars were involved.

According to reports, two wreckers, one from a Mullan garage, were busy at the scene Saturday but were unable to move the stranded machines. Then the call to Wallace was sent in. Reports that trickled in said that snow had drifted badly in the vicinity of Taft and the summit.

It was not learned whether any of the occupants of the isolated cars were injured, but it is believed that the mishaps were only of a minor nature and that those in the machines suffered little from cold or exposure.

Matt Thomas, Wallace, escaped uninjured and his machine was only slightly damaged when it turned over Saturday afternoon about 1½ miles west of Wallace. An oil truck, driven by Don Heidt, in attempting to pass the wrecker which was at the scene of the accident, nearly slid into the creek, the wheels skidding over the embankment a short distance. A pull from the wrecker placed the truck back on the road.

DANCING PARTY IN HOTEL LOBBY

Michael Shannon, Elmer Clark and Lee Teufel were hosts Saturday night to about 30 friends at a dancing party in the lobby of the Samuels hotel. Members of the Gonzaga high school basketball team which played in Mullan Saturday night were included in the guest roster.

Mrs. Emma Stansfield, proprietor of the hotel, was the hostess.

TWO ESCAPE INJURY

Matt Thomas had a narrow escape from serious injury yesterday when the machine he was driving skidded and turned over into the ditch near the west city limits. A woman companion also escaped injury.

ENTERTAINS AT BRIDGE.

Miss Harriet Morrison, junior high school instructor, entertained eight friends at a bridge party at her room in the Samuel's hotel last night.

"We invade a new field with vastly improved cars at the lowest prices in our history"

BY WILLIAM J. McANENEY

President, Hudson Motor Car Company

WE have built these models up to and beyond the 1931 standards of performance and quality in every way, and have never in our history offered so many improvements. Quality is greater down to the last detail. Every phase of performance has been greatly improved, and the luxury we have built into the cars is substantially greater than ever before. Motors are larger and more powerful. An efficient system of oil cooling is introduced. A marked improvement in carburetion increases flexibility and economy. Bodies are longer and wider. These cars possess the finest, easiest riding qualities. For the first time, such comfort is available at these low prices. Only great manufacturing economies and the fact that our large resources permit us to take the fullest possible advantage of reduced commodity prices have enabled us to offer the public the greatest combination of quality and low prices in our entire history.

Owner-Management Permits Exclusive Value Advantages

Owner-management enables Hudson-Essex to give you outstanding advantages in quality and price. The men who are now guiding its destinies have been with the company since its inception twenty-two years ago. Its department heads and principal distributors are its controlling owners. Their independence is backed by unusually large resources in capital and plant facilities. It enables Hudson-Essex to lead in design and engineering quality. It permits economies in manufacture and distribution that bring exceptional quality direct to the public at distinct price advantages.

Going out of office, the governor will have his own business to go into if he wishes, the hardware and farm implement business in which he has been engaged since first he came to Idaho more than 25 years ago.

He has made no announcement on what he plans to do after his term expires on January 5.

OAKLAND AND PONTIAC DISPLAY 1931 MODELS

Two fine cars freshly styled for 1931 and presenting new elements of grace, comfort and performance—the new Oakland eight and the new Pontiac six—yesterday made their initial bow to the American public.

Oakland's most important change is found in the new syncro-mesh transmission which, combined with the 85-horsepower developed by the improved big V-type engine, provides easy shifting and second gear acceleration up to 40 to 45 miles per hour.

The Pontiac has been lengthened to a new wheelbase of 112 inches and its sturdy, 60-horsepower engine has been further refined. The Oakland wheelbase is 117 inches. Five wire wheels are standard equipment on both cars at no additional cost. The Taylor Motor company, Mullan, is the district dealer.

NEW HAND GUIDES STATE ELEVATOR

Kelly Completed 12 Years of Service And Then Dies at Home of Daughter in Kansas.

BOISE, Jan. 3. (AP)—For a dozen years O. A. Kelly operated the statehouse elevator, traveling thousands of miles, always up and down, but yesterday he died in Manhattan, Kansas, after a rallway trip to the home of his daughter.

Word of his death brought many expressions of sorrow. Kelly was 72 years old and he had spent the time since he was 60 almost exclusively as elevator operator in the state's leading business house.

Legislators of a half dozen sessions knew him by name and he spotted new members instantly as they stepped into his gilded contraption for an effortless ride to the third floor.

Rarely did regular habitues of the statehouse announce the floors on which they wished to get off, Kelly knew. He knew the usual path of newspaper reporters from floor to floor on their rounds about the building.

Messages for "somebody to call so-and-so" were nearly always delivered by Kelly before anyone else, for he continually was seeing everybody entering the elevator or along the hallways.

Scores of children knew his reply to their requests for permission to climb the winding stairs to the dome of the statehouse.

"You'll have to get a guardian."

"What's a guardian?"

"Somebody over sixteen," was Kelly's reply. Not legal perhaps, but safe.

Several months ago his daughter, Miss Amy Kelly, teacher of home economics at the agricultural college in Manhattan, asked him to spend his remaining years with her. But he postponed it until he had completed 12 years service with the state. That was just a week ago and he left that day.

Today another practiced hand guides the elevator—but it's not Kelly.

Style, dependability characterize these two fine cars. You note modern mode, rich finish and detailed attention in these achievements by Oakland, Fisher and General Motors.

OAKLAND'S 85 h. p. V-Eight motor, inherently smooth and quiet, delivers brilliant, rugged power.

SYNCRO-MESH—New Syncro-Mesh transmission makes shifting easy at any speed, up or down.

BODIES BY FISHER—Styled by Fisher, each of the six Oakland body types is distinguished by its smart appearance, generous comfort and its rich, attractive interior with mohair and whipcord upholstery.

R. B. REAR AXLE—New, sturdy rear axle; reinforced construction; ball and roller bearings. Oil sealed in and dust sealed out.

5-BAR FRAME—New, heavy frame, with five cross-members, makes firm, rigid foundation for the body.

RUBBER CUSHIONING—At more than 40 points throughout the chassis, new rubber cushioning eases riding and deadens noise.

PONTIAC'S big 60 h. p. motor is economical, yet powerful, with quick, smooth acceleration.

LONG WHEELBASE—Wheelbase is lengthened, permitting large, spacious bodies, added ease and comfort.

BODIES BY FISHER—Six body types with Fisher beauty and craftsmanship. Mohair and whipcord upholstery; non-glare windshield; deep, luxurious cushions; adjustable driver's seat; sizable, livable interiors.

LARGE BRAKES—New mechanical four-wheel brakes are one-fifth larger, easy and sure to operate.

INLOX-FLOATED—New Inlox rubber spring shackle bushings reduce road shocks and eliminate twelve lubrication points.

WEATHERTIGHT COWL—Cowl and narrow windshield posts are formed in one unit, making strong, tight construction.

FIRPO TO MEET JIM HANNA

Battle Arranged to Take Place in Rock Springs January 26; May Meet Lomski.

George McKeown, manager of Young Firpo, Burke light-heavyweight, announced yesterday afternoon that the Wild Bull had received an offer to fight Jimmy Hanna of Rock Springs in the 10-round main event of a card to be held in Rock Springs January 26.

The offer, which was made in a wire from Benny Livingston, Rock Springs fight promoter, was attractive, McKeown said, and has been accepted.

Firpo challenged the winner of the Bellanger-Lomski fight in Portland Thursday and arrangements are being completed for the Burke battler to sling gloves at Bellanger in the Rose city January 20.

If he can defeat Bellanger, which most of the sports critics say is probable, Firpo will have undisputed possession of the mythical light heavyweight championship of the Pacific slope. Bellanger won the title from Lomski who administered a kayo potion to Firpo a few weeks ago.

Because of conflicting dates Firpo did not accept a battle with Lomski on January 13 in Portland, but he says he is anxious to meet the Aberdeen Assassin again so that he "can square himself with the fans." He is confident that he can defeat Lomski and they will probably be matched at some future time.

Hanna is a home town boy and is expected to give Firpo a tough evening, although comparatively little is known of his fighting prowess.

DODD PASSES PERSONAL GLORY FOR BASKETBALL

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The reason Bobby Dodd, twice all-southern quarterback, and named on several All-American football teams, is playing basketball this year is because he loves it better than personal glory.

The University of Tennessee ace was widely sought as a member of all-star football teams for charity games during the holiday season but refused them all when he found that acceptance would bar him from his last year on the hardwood.

The basketball season this year will end the young athlete's college career. He was an all-southern guard on the basketball team last year, and one of the outstanding men of all positions in Dixie basketball.

ANDERSON TO YAKIMA

Dave Anderson will leave today for Yakima, Wash., here he will look over proposed sites preparatory to the probable establishment of a bowling alley there. If tentative plans are carried out he will operate a six-alley course with M. J. "Mickey" Powers, former operator of the Wallace Bowling Alleys.

Phone your news items to 49.

SCHMELING TO PROTECT TITLE

NEW YORK, Jan. 3. (AP)—Max Schmeling will defend his heavyweight title next June—but the match will take place in Soldier field, Chicago, regardless of any action the New York state athletic commission may take Tuesday in its lengthy wrangle with the socking Teuton.

Young Bill Stribling, the pride of Georgia, and not Jack Sharkey, the Boston biffer, is slated to battle him for the championship. Herr Maxie won last June on a foul from Sharkey in Yankee stadium. Furthermore, if all goes well, the title duel will be preceded by an elimination match between Stribling and Primo Carnera some time in February.

AMATEUR TOURNEY IN PORTLAND SOON

PORTLAND, Jan. 3. (AP)—Invitations were being mailed today to amateur boxers in the western states in connection with the Pacific coast amateur boxing championship tourney to be held here February 13 and 14.

The invitations will go to leading amateur clubs, to colleges and high schools and to unattached boxers.

TEXACO HAS LOW CARBON RESIDUE

Motorists who are troubled with carbon formation on plugs and cylinders will find real satisfaction in learning that the new Texaco crack-proof motor oil uniformly shows a very low carbon residue. The Coeur d'Alene Hardware and Foundry company is a local distributor.

After the recent university test was completed, Dr. Lincoln T. Work, of Columbia university, summarizing the fidings of university professors, said: "The new Texaco shows very little tendency to form carbon either when fresh or when used."

This means the elimination of two of the biggest causes of engine-knock, overheating and sluggish motors.

PRICE RAISES WHEAT ON ENORMOUS SCALE

Increases His Planting from 18,000 to 30,000 Acres Despite Low Market for the Product.

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Wheat prices are low but Hickman Price, wheat king of the Texas panhandle, is drilling in 30,000 acres for the 1931 crop.

Last season he had 18,000 acres, and now he is increasing his acreage, in the face of advice from the federal farm board to cut crop acreage.

Price, one of the largest independent wheat growers in America, is not greatly worried about the market. In industrial farming on a "big business" basis, with large scale operation, he sees the remedy for the present situation in which many producers find themselves forced to sell for less than their cost of growing.

Fleet of Tractors.

Price has a fleet of eight tractors which have been running night and day, rain or shine.. for more than a year. They are idle only 30 minutes each day—two stops of 15 minutes each for refueling.

Each tractor travels about 70 miles a day over Price's huge tract. Alongside the tractors in a train of cars, including a diner, club car, reading room and shower bath, the workers encamp.

The advantages of his system, which requires large capital, Price says are in saving in purchases of supplies, due to buying in quantities; an advantage of from 5 to 15 cents a bushel in selling his crop, through disposing of it direct to millers; and cheaper production costs per unit.

How he comes out financially on his 1930 or 1931 crop is of little concern to Price. He is operating on a 10-year basis, confident that if one year is not profitable, another will make up for it.
